NEWPORT EXOTIC GARDEN.
WHERE can I find it? is sometimes asked by strangers, but never by old visitors.
Now is the time to secure your bedding plants. We never before had such a quantity and never such fine plants as this season, consisting of all the new and rare plants. All we desire, is to come and look and see for yourselves. Roses, Dracenias, Centaurias, Geraniums of all sorts, Carnations, Coleous, &c., all of these by the hundred or thousand. Hundreds of other varieties of bedding and foliage plants, all at low rates. Baskets, Stands, Vases, Jardinieres. A fine lot of Ferns, Begonias, Caladiums, Palms, Euphorbias, Camelias and Azalias, Rose Buds by the hundred, and everything pertaining to a first-class Horticultural Establishment. All orders received this season for Boquets, Baskets, Cut Flowers, and decorations for parties and weddings, received at the garden, as we have vacated our store on Bellevue av., to avoid fortunate rent, which we save by doing all our business at the greenhouses and which our patrons will have the benefit of. Trees of various sorts to be found in addition to the above. Galvin & Geraghty, Dearborn and Spring streets, Newport, R. I. my5

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.
SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,
SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC,
SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS,
Are the only medicines that will cure Pulmonary Consumption. Frequently medicines that stop a cough will occasion the death of the patient; they lock up the liver, stop the circulation of the blood, hemorrhage follows, and in fact, they clog the action of the very organs that caused the cough. Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia are the causes of two-thirds of the cases of Consumption. Many persons complain of a dull pain in the side, constipation, coated tongue, pain in the shoulder-blade, feelings of drowsiness and restlessness, the food lying heavily on the stomach, accompanied with acidity and belching up of wind. These symptoms usually originate from a disordered condition of the stomach or a torpid liver. Persons so affected, if they take one or two heavy colds, and if the cough in those cases be suddenly checked, will find the stomach and liver clogged, remaining torpid and inactive, and almost before they are aware the lungs are a mass of sores, and ulcerated, the result of which is death. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup is an expectorant which does not contain opium or anything calculated to check a cough suddenly. Schenck's Seaweed Tonic dissolves the food, mixes with the gastric juices of the stomach, aids digestion and creates a ravenous appetite. When the bowels are costive, skin sallow, or the symptoms otherwise of a bilious tendency, Schenck's Mandrake Pills are required. These medicines are prepared only by DR. J. H. SCHENCK & SON,
N. E. corner Sixth and Arch streets, Phila.
And are for sale by all druggists and dealers.
Dr. Schenck will be at the Quincy House, Boston, on the following Wednesdays: October 7th and 21st, November 4th and 18th, and December 2d, 16th and 30th. oct8

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1874.

The Five Cobblers of Brescia.

Radiant Summer was reigning over the ragged and picturesque old city of Brescia L'Armata. Italian sunshine wrought its magic on everything. A blue elysian haze encircled the town, with gold green acacias peering sleepily through it, olive-hued poplars piercing it, and the fairy-like towers of rock born fortresses shining rosily across it out of the sky. Red roofs and chimneys burned; tall, dingy houses lifted their painted brows out of black depths of shadow and grew brilliant with gazing at the sun. Narrowest vicoletti breaking the blocks of the dwellings looked like dark fissures in a mountain; fresco pictures on the fronts of the houses in the open streets blazed with—almost—their original color, and oleanders in the rusty balconies flashed out pink and scarlet and crimson, making garlands of fire all down the time darkened walls.

A young girl was entering the town by a hilly road on the outskirts, a solitary figure, threading the tall poplars, and surrounded by a background of scenery, like one of Titian's pictures. A blending of the gay, the fantastic, and the sombre were noticeable in the face and apparel of this maiden, making her peculiarly picturesque, as she advanced out of the ethereal blues and greens of the distance, and took her way through the deep colored streets of the town.

It was evidently all new to her, for she gazed at everything as a foreigner gazes. In the market place she peeped curiously under the great white umbrellas of the fruit-women, and spoke in broken Italian when she purchased a piece of ripe melon, to quench her thirst of travel. The two strange men of metal who hammer out the hour on the face of the great clock made her start as they stepped forward to their work, and the paintings on the fronts of the houses, with their curious stories told in half brilliant, half-blotted colors, had a fascination for her as she leaned against a wall and enjoyed her refreshment. The market was going on at the time. Carts rolled about, voices sang and shouted, the yellow curtains fluttered out from the black shadows of the little shops at the side of the street, figures of young girls, of mothers with children, appeared among the fire-flowers in the balconies and nodded down to other people who were gazing up from below. A stone pierced the girl's shoe, which was worn with walking, and she sat down on the steps of a church and examined its ruefully. There was an ugly hole: the owner made a little wry face as she looked at it, then laughed, and put it on again. "I shall earn a pair of strong ones before long," she said to herself, though not in Italian. "I must pick my steps until then." The shoe was certainly not a peasant's shoe, yet the girl was dressed like a peasant. Her brown skirt, black bodice, and white chemisette were of coarsest materials. Bare and sunburnt were her pretty, round arms and delicate hands; a scarlet sash hung round her waist, and scarlet ribbons tied up her hair—silky dark hair, a little bronzed at the edges. Her face was plump, dimpled, and exquisitely moulded; her eyes were dark, luminous, and full of humor. A white coil sheltered the eyes at present, and threw a transparent, flickering shadow all round the face. After the accident to her shoe the young stranger walked cautiously and with a little limp through the streets of Brescia, and the people looked after her as she went.

In a street which descends a hill five cobblers were sitting in the open air, busily engaged with their work. They sat on five wooden stools, which were close together in a line, and each man supported his feet on the roll of the seat of his neighbor. It almost seemed as if they all rode a single wooden horse down the brow of the hill, in so close and straight a file had they ranged themselves. First in the row was a very old man, with white hair and a placid countenance, who waxed his thread often, and was slow at his work; next, his sons, two elderly men, singularly like each other except that the expression of the one was morose and abstracted, while that of the other was nervous and fierce; fourthly, a good looking young man, with lively eyes and a confident air, who gazed about the street between every two of his stitches; and, last of all, a second young man, with an earnest, intelligent face, who seemed to give all his attention to his work. As our limping maiden came down the street she caught sight of this group, and, hastening up to them, pointed to her broken shoe.

"Ciabattini?" she asked eagerly.

Yes, they were cobblers, answered the men, raising their five heads and gazing in surprise at the liveliness and beauty of her face. Ubaldo, the old man, looked at her kindly; Trifonius, the morose, and Grifone, the fiery, regarded her with grudging admiration; while the two young men, Prisco, the son of Trifonius, and Silvio, the apprentice, gazed round at her over their shoulders with the liveliest interest and delight. As they all stared, with their thread suspended, the young stranger suddenly broke into a peal of the most deliciously mirthful laughter, which shook in the air like the song of a lark, and made the five cobblers also laugh though they did not know what they were laughing at.

"You all look so funny!" cried the girl, drawing forth a fine white handkerchief and wiping the tears of merriment from her eyes.

"This is not business!" growled Trifonius.

"Can you pay?"

"We do not work for nothing," said Grifone.

"I have no money at present," said the girl; "but I mean to pay you afterwards."

"It will not do," said Trifonius.

"You can go elsewhere," said Grifone.

"Trust her, my sons!" said Ubaldo. "She is a stranger."

The girl looked up and down the street, bending the broken shoe back and forward in her hands, and then she glanced wistfully at the row of men who refused to help her.

"If I had a needle and thread I could do it myself," she said.

"That you could not!" cried the old man.

"Give it to me!" And he turned it over and over on his knees. It was a dainty little thing, made of the finest leather, embroidered in colored silks. "Pretty, very pretty!" said Ubaldo; "but not like what a peasant maiden wears. The work is too fine for my trembling fingers."

And he handed it on to Trifonius, who surveyed it suspiciously.

"Stolen!" he said, and flung it to Grifone who tossed it to Prisco.

"Gentlemen," cried the girl, "if you will not help me, do not hurt me. I will go farther and find kinder fellow creatures."

"Not so fast, little one!" said Prisco. "It is a pretty shoe, and deserves to be mended."

And he fell to work upon it clumsily. He was not at all skilful, and tore the delicate leather with his handling.

"A curse on it!" he cried. "It is too nice for me!"

"Give it to Il Garzone?" said Ubaldo.

And Silvio, the other young man, took the vexatious shoe in his hand, smiled at its neatness, chose a fine bit of leather, and put a delicate little patch upon the rent. Then he presented it with a look of simple goodwill to the stranger maiden, who drew it on

Connected with THE NEWS is the largest general printing office in the city. All orders for work in this department will be promptly filled, and at reasonable prices. The patronage of the public is respectfully solicited.

Newport Daily News.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1874.

The DAILY NEWS is served by carriers to all city subscribers residing south of Bliss road and north of Dixon street, at $6 per year or 12 cents per week, payable to the carrier. Orders should be left at the office of publication.

THE DAY.

The colored people of Newport repeated last night their demand for their supplementary civil rights, although they opposed a national civil rights convention next month. Their petition for the passage of the civil rights bill is to be sent to Mr. Eames for presentation to Congress.

General Howard has appointed as a military commission the following gentlemen:—Maj. General William R. Walker, of Pawtucket, and the Hon. Samuel Powel, of this city, at large; Col. J. Lippitt Snow, of Providence, representing the cavalry; Lieut. Colonel Robert Grosvenor, of Providence, representing the light artillery; Col. Benjamin B. Martin, of Warren, the heavy artillery; Capt. J. Albert Brown, of Westerly, and Judge Advocate N. P. S. Thomas, of North Kingstown, representing the infantry.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean finds that republics are ungrateful. Though it came nobly to the rescue of the Republican party in 1872 when the Chicago Tribune wandered off into the courts of the wicked and sat in the tents of the soreheads, yet now, as soon as Mr. Medill resumes charge of it and declares his devotion to the party, the official advertising is taken from the impecunious but loyal Inter-Ocean and given to the reformed Tribune. It's the parable of the Prodigal Son over again. The Tribune quits the task of feeding husks to Independent swine and returns to its Republican home where Father Jewell promptly decorates it with the purple robe of Post-office Department advertising.

For self sacrificing humanity the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher has, probably, no equal. For nearly six months he has been subject to determined and serious attacks from an enemy whom he says he can utterly crush and put to shame, and he has taken about as much notice of them as a man takes of a casual mosquito. Until urged to it by his friends he took no notice of the attacks at all, and it was only by the most vigorous efforts of his friends that he brought an action for libel against his accusor, and this action he has manifested no anxiety to have brought to trial. The suit of Tilton against Beecher has been called twice, the second time yesterday, and has both times been postponed on the petition of the defendant's counsel. Tilton, rashly courting destruction, declares himself ready to proceed and anxious to have a conclusion arrived at. Beecher, tenderly solicitous of his enemy's welfare, interposes in Tilton's behalf an application for a bill of particulars, and weeps by proxy as he applies through counsel for a postponement of the day on which he is to prove that Theodore Tilton is the most malicious liar on earth. Loving one's enemies can go no farther than this. The trial is set down for December 8th, but Mr. Beecher's counsel gave notice that if the bill of particulars was refused he should seek a farther postponement of the wicked Tilton's utter annihilation. No man was ever so loath to prove his innocence at the expense of another man's character as is Mr. Beecher.

CIVIL RIGHTS.

There seems to be a mine of political capital in the civil rights bill, but a good many Republicans in Congress have been afraid to dig for it. It is generally supposed that there is some nitro-glycerine in the immediate vicinity of the treasure and that the party that digs in that vicinity runs some risk of destruction. The Boston Herald, which is an independent Democratic paper, advises the Democratic party to pass this bill and by this flank movement permanently defeat the Republican party. This advice is sagacious, but there isn't any probability that it will be taken. The wolf is as likely to execute a flank movement on the human race by conscientiously taking care of the sheep and patiently playing with the baby as a party of Irishmen and Southerners is to give any additional privileges to the negro. The colored people may be impatient with the Republican party for its timidity, but if they vote the Democratic ticket they will find themselves in the condition of the horse in the fable which allowed a man to mount him that his enemy the stag might be beaten. The stag was disposed of but the rider did not dismount. That the Democrats intend to undo the results of the war we do not apprehend, but that they will grant the colored man his supplementary civil rights is a Utopian dream.

In this connection it is interesting to notice that the Texas legislature is considering a very ingenious method of evading the abolition of slavery. The special correspondent of the New York Times has already called attention to the fact that the Texans are sending the negroes to the penitentiary as rapidly as false charges and unjust courts can do it. What this is for may be learned from the following summary of a bill that has already passed the lower house of the Texas legislature. The first section provides that when any person is convicted of any offence in the courts, the presiding justice of the county can employ such a person to labor on the public works or roads during the whole term of his imprisonment, or he may hire him out to the highest bidder either by private or public contract. The second section gives the justices power to hire out, in the same way, any person who is under sentence of imprisonment for nonpayment of a fine, until he has worked out the amount of the fine; or any person who will pay the fine may have the convict's labor. The third and most extraordinary section of all provides that "all persons confined in jail on a charge of having committed a misdemeanor or petty offence may be employed in like manner from the time of imprisonment until the time of trial, and if upon trial such person shall be acquitted, he shall be paid not less than 25 cents nor more than $1 per day, as the presiding justice may contract; provided that before trial and conviction no person shall be held to labor without his consent." The fourth section requires sheriffs to capture escaped convicts and return them to their employers, in which case all the labor previously performed is forfeited, and the convict is compelled to recommence his term of labor, and continue until the expiration of the full time of the contract made by the justice.

There is no reference to race, color, or previous condition of servitude in the law, but it is obvious that a colored man could easily be fined an amount that would keep him at work for the remainder of his natural life. It is also plain that a Texan Democrat has means of persuading a negro accused of crime to consent to be hired out till his trial, which could easily be postponed till the victim's ninety ninth birthday.

This sort of legislation on the part of Democrats is suicidal. A large portion of the party has no sympathy with such iniquitous legislation, but the party will be overwhelmed in 1876, if it appears before that time that its policy is to repeal or evade the post bellum amendments to the constitution.

PERSONALS.

......Miss Cushman goes to San Francisco next month.

......Governor-elect Tilden is unmarried, and the New York Herald is anxiously looking around for a wife for him.

......Israel Washburn continues to be mentioned for the Maine Senatorship. Hamlin hopes he won't have "Washburn luck."

......If Gov. Garland is ousted in Arkansas, there'll be undoubtedly be some other chap-lot in, in his place.—[N. Y. Com. Adv.

......Barnum never publishes a full-length portrait because he wishes it to be understood that he is always a-head.—[N. Y. Herald.

......Nilsson is to receive, in Russia, during December of this year, and January of next year, 7000 francs for each performance.

......The Rev. H. A. Haweis, the musical clergyman of London, is about to publish a work on cremation, entitled "Ashes to Ashes."

......Roe, the novelist, who is also a Presbyterian clergyman, is to resign his pulpit. He will hoe but one row in future—literature.

......Washington gossip has it that Miss McCulloch, with her beauty and rare accomplishments, will be as great an acquisition to society there this Winter as her father, the ex-Secretary, will be to financial affairs.

......On the last "Lucia" night at the New York Academy of Music, when Albani sang, Annie Louise Cary entered the Academy attired in a rich Russian mantle trimmed with the most costly furs, and wearing a magnificent pearl silk dress, heavily barred with black velvet. She, with two other ladies, sat out the performance applauding her sister artiste with much feminine enthusiasm.

......The recent rejection of Dr. Seymour is not without precedent in the history of the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church in this country. In 1801, it refused to confirm the election by the diocese of New Jersey of Dr. Ogden, who subsequently joined the Presbyterians. In 1844, it rejected Dr. Francis L. Hawks for the Mississippi episcopate. In 1865, the nomination of two missionary bishops was not confirmed.

......It is reported that Judge James D. Colt will succeed Representative-elect Chapin as president of the Boston and Albany Railroad. Judge Colt, who is now one of the supreme court of Massachusetts, once held the position of attorney of the Western Railroad before its consolidation with the Worcester road, which formed the Boston and Albany corporation.

......The Rev. James Freeman Clarke, during a sermon at the Boston Music Hall, last Sunday evening, on "The Classification of Saints," mentioned John Brown in one of the classes, and told the audience that the last time he mentioned the name of John Brown on the platform of Music Hall was in the Spring of 1861, when it was met with such a storm of hisses that he was unable to proceed.

......There is said to be a negro boy living in Newport, Va., who will drink kerosene oil by the quantity whenever he can get it. He craves it to such an extent that the family are compelled to hide not only the can which contains it, but even the lamps. He has been known to drink half a pint at a time. The effect of it is similar to mean whiskey; it produces a wild intoxication. When under the influence of it he will light matches and hold them within his mouth, talk idiotically, mimic men and beasts, and act like a frantic baboon generally.

......Mr. George S. Houston, the newly-elected Democratic governor of Alabama, is thus described in a letter to the Louisville Courier-Journal. He is one of the wealthiest men in the state, an able lawyer and a Tennesseean by birth, having removed to Alabama in 1821, when twelve years old. He was elected to Congress in 1841, and returned until 1849, when he retired to practise his profession. In 1851 he again returned to Congress, and remained there till 1861, when, his state having seceded, he retired with his colleagues. During the war he remained at his home. He was despoiled of his property; but, although a life long Unionist, he refused to take the oath of allegiance. In 1865 he was elected to the United States Senate, but was not allowed to take his seat. Since the war he has practised law in Athens, Ala. While in the federal Congress he was chairman, for two years each, of two of the most important committees—that of ways and means and of the judiciary.

WESTERN YARNS.—They say of the grasshoppers in Kansas, that at Topeka they "eat peaches from the trees, and then throw the stones at the people as they pass." In Wisconsin they say "they stopped a train one morning, seized the daily papers and there learning that a section had been missed by them, turned back and finished the job." Stopping a train is no joke. They have frequently piled themselves so as to cause the driving wheels to stick on their broken bodies. The ladies have an aversion to them as they cannot walk out without capturing from fifty to two hundred and bringing them home. In church you can safely assume that every lady has a few score hidden in the folds of her robes. A sudden twitching of the features, a clutching of the fingers or a faint scream, will indicate that one of these captives has "struck for liberty."

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

—Thanksgiving day one week from to-day.

—Dr. Carpenter, the oculist and aurist, can be consulted at the Perry House today until 9 P. M.

—Mr. F. B. Downing is reported better today but he still suffers a great deal of pain and is unable to move. The attendant physician says that no bones are broken and Mr. Downing's injuries are not so serious as painful.

—Dr. I. I. Hayes, the distinguished Arctic explorer, will tell us tonight at the Opera House the wonderful story of the Polaris expedition and the almost miraculous escape of himself and comrades from the eternal Winter of the hyperborean regions.

—Yesterday afternoon smoke was seen issuing from Col. Jerome Bonaparte's stable on Harrison avenue. An alarm was raised but before it had reached town the neighbors succeeded in extinguishing the flames. How it caught is a mystery as no one lives on the premises, its owner being in France.

William Young of this city went out in the harbor yesterday afternoon in a leaky skiff, and after rowing some distance from the shore he determined to return as the water was making rapidly but before he reached the dock the skiff rolled over and he followed suit. A thorough ducking was the extent of the damage, and the boat will not be allowed to leave the dock again until the leak is stopped. Its condition has been known for some time.

QUERY.

Why is it that the illuminated clock on the State House, which should be the standard of correct time to the community, is about five minutes behind, or in some other way derelict most of the time? Last year it was cared for, and, we think very satisfactorily, by Cummings, who was changed for the present custodian, Mr. Pray. These are both religious names, the former representing that of the bishop whose tender conscience would not allow of his remaining in the Episcopal church of the regular succession in this country, and the other is certainly a very pious cognomen, so that we have a right, yes, a bona fide right, to expect the exact truth from whichever of them points the dial plate of time.

QUERIST.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON—THIRD DAY.

The testimony for the defendants or appellees in the case of John Alfred Hazard against the town council of Middletown in regard to the laying out of a certain highway which passed over the appellant's land, occupied the time of the court through the morning session and until half past three o'clock in the afternoon when Mr. Sheffield rested the case on the part of the council, and Mr. Peckham, who is of counsel for General Hazard, opened his case to the jury stating the line of his defense and shadowing forth the allegations which he proposed to establish and the facts which he proposed to prove, claiming that he would establish among other things, that the most proper direction for a road lay entirely in a different way from the lay out made by the council and from which his client had appealed, and that this road as laid out was inexpedient and uncalled for and unnecessary and could not be properly declared to be necessary by the council unless they could see their way clear to pay the whole expenses out of the public treasury, whereas he expected to prove that, Mr. Sturtevant failing to purchase a right of way from the owners through whose land it was to pass, offered to pay all land damages over the sum of four thousand dollars, if the council would lay out the road, which they did and which Mr. Sturtevant then contracted to build, all which in fact, they contended, made it rather a matter of private speculation than of public necessity or convenience.

Mr. Peckham concluded his opening the case for the appellant at half past four o'clock, when he called his witnesses, and occupied the rest of the afternoon session until half past five o'clock, when the court was adjourned until nine o'clock Thursday morning.

THURSDAY MORNING.—FOURTH DAY.

The court came in this morning at nine o'clock when the appellant in the Middletown road case went on with his testimony, and occupied the morning session until the adjournment, and the case will not be given to the jury until late in the day, if today at all.

CIVIL RIGHTS.

At a public meeting of colored citizens on civil rights which was held last evening in the Burnside Guard armory, Mr. Thomas Jones presided, and Mr. Freeborn Ford acted as secretary. The following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the outrage in being denied our civil and public rights is too keenly felt by us for us to be in any respect indifferent as to the same; that we will as a duty, as well as from feeling, favor any appropriate agency to attain relief: but we regard the suggestion to hold a national civil rights convention at Washington on the 8th of December as untimely, not strategic, that we regard it politic to wait for events and speak at a later date. That if compelled to speak at present, it would have to be in substance that we are painfully disappointed that indifference to our rights has not encouraged steadiness and inspiration among colored voters.

Resolved, That we send a petition to Congress praying it to pass a civil rights bill that shall be no less broad and comprehensive than the one now on the speaker's table of the House of Representatives.

Resolved, That the secretary address a letter to the Hon. B. T. Eames respectfully requesting him to present our petition, and to urge on the floor of the house, and otherwise, the passage of a law in accordance with our prayer.

Resolved, that if the suggestion to hold a national convention be approved, and it shall convene, that we request Mr. George T. Downing to represent and act therein in the interest of the colored people of Newport as in his judgment he may think best, and otherwise represent our interests.

This last resolution was adopted though some parties objected on the ground that as they were opposed to the convention they would not give it the implied recognition which this resolution might seem to give.

PRACTICAL THEOLOGY.—The encouraging prospect of rain which we had on Sunday has vanished without fulfillment of its promise. Wells are nearly and cisterns quite dry. An impalpable dust pervades the atmosphere. There are more or less destructive fires occurring in our Rhode Island woods. Everybody is praying for rain. Even those who deemed it a smart thing to talk about the "prayer-guage," involuntarily breathe a wish for the out-pouring of the clouds. Now, if prayer is the heart's sincere desire, uttered or unexpressed, then in spite of all the flippant talk, we are all of us constantly praying for something over which we have, and fully know we have, no control. This unconscious, vague, perhaps unreasoning "looking for," is as conclusive as it is universal. It means that there is in the very constitution of man a recognition of a power above, superior to himself. Perhaps Mr. Tyndall would not in so many words deny that there is such a power. But, so much admitted, while there would be a great deal to say about his doctrine, it would lose the horror with which we shrink from atheism, pure and simple. Granted the existence of God, and the question is whether the doctrine of Tyndall in its facts, and in its inferences from proved facts, is more worthy of belief than the teachings of the Bible. There is nothing to be frightened about. The consciousness of man is not to be argued away, nor is it to be disproved by science, because it is as much a fact as is the evolution of the chick from the egg. And the consciousness of man affirms, appeals to, in matters of life and death, agonizes for, the aid of a Creator.—[Providence Journal.

THE LATE LARKYNS.

A REMARKABLE LIFE.—AN AMATEUR CONSPIRATOR.—AN ARMY OFFICER AND AN INDIAN RAJAH.—ENORMOUS WEALTH AND ABJECT POVERTY.—AN ERRATIC AND WICKED LIFE ENDED BY A PISTOL BALL.

Larkyns was a man of infinite adventure. He was one of Charles Lever's heroes in real life. As the younger son of a rich Scotchman, he got a deal of learning and a little lucre. A few years of life on the continent added to the former and swept away the latter. While he was living royally on his principal, he seems to have amused himself with plotting dire destruction for the crowned heads of Europe. He carried a musket under Garibaldi, and is said to have belonged to Mazzini's secret league. The spies of Europe knew him. He grew accustomed to being escorted across frontiers by two policemen. He was withal only an amateur conspirator. Plots fascinated him. He declared that he never meant to do any king harm, and indeed his schemes always failed. Perhaps he felt that he was to reign himself. But we anticipate. When Larkyns came home, accomplished and penniless, from his wanderings, his relatives bought him an army commission. He sailed for India to join his regiment. Arrived there, he soon wearied of the routine, sold out of the service, and started for central Asia. There his fortune culminated. He fell into the good graces of a heathen potentate, administered his government for him, and finally freed him from all further care in the matter by making himself rajah. He succeeded to the palace, the harem, and the treasury of the man he had expelled, and led a life of barbaric magnificence.

After six years of solitary splendor, he wearied of the cares of state. He decamped at night, and betook himself and a trunkful of diamonds to London. His family naturally killed the fatted calf in his honor, but he quarreled with them soon and bade them good-by forever. This made dependence on them impossible when, soon after, an unlucky speculation robbed him of the spoils of his rajahship. His beggary and the outbreak of the Franco German war were coincident. He was soon fighting, as Maj. Larkyns, on Gen. Bourbaki's staff. Bravery gave him the cross of the legion of honor, and then, at Metz, a wound. He limped through the campaign, which ended at Sedan, and was captured with his pro tem monarch. He fades out of view as a prisoner of war at Sedan, and reappears as a soldier of fortune at Salt Lake City, in the Winter of 1872. Thence he wandered to Honolulu, back to San Francisco, and into a 'Frisco jail. The failure of the man who had cashed his fictitious drafts to prosecute him set him free.

The ex-king became a coal-heaver. As a day-laborer, as a stevedore, as a clerk, as a translator, as a critic and correspondent, he worked to gain money and regain reputation. He was well employed at Calistoga when the end came. A jealous San Francisco husband hurried thither with Larkyns's letters to his wife in his pocket, and his pistol in his hand. He called Larkyns to the door, and the doomed man came. There was a cry of "Throw up your hands!" an oath, a flash and the dull thud of a bullet, and the man of the world went out of the world. The wages of his sin were death. He might have done much, but he preferred to enjoy much; and this was the ghastly end of an odd life. Among the queerest of the queer crowd that will rise from California soil when the last trump sounds will be the late Larkyns.

AGRICULTURE IN GEORGIA.

SHIFTLESSNESS ON THE PART OF BOTH BLACKS AND WHITES.—SHOT GUNS THE MOST COMMON FARM IMPLEMENTS AND POINTERS THE FAVORITE LIVE STOCK.

Like all the southern states, Georgia depends upon the product of the fields for the support of her people. It is true that of late years the manufacturing interests of the state have been largely on the increase, but up to the present the agricultural is very much greater than any other interest. Coming here from Alabama the traveler cannot fail to mark the good condition of the roads and bridges, the cheerful aspect of the people, and the general air of thrift and enterprise which prevails in the towns. The taxes are light and the laws moderately well enforced, the inhabitants are ruled by men of their own choice, and politically they have nothing to complain of. When all these things are taken into consideration it would be but natural to suppose that the farms would be thoroughly cultivated and the land owners prosperous. Such is not the case, however; the system of farming is the same reckless and careless one which has ruined some of the states, and although many of the planters have done better within the past few years, the great mass of the land-owners complain of decreased values and a scarcity of money. They wonder at this, but a disinterested stranger who investigates the matter clearly is not at all surprised. The great secrets of their failure to make money are that do not work hard enough; that they attempt to cultivate too much ground; that they plant cotton, cotton, and nothing but cotton, and pay two prices for the supplies which they receive from the West and North. During the past year the farmers living within thirty miles of Columbus sold in this market about $1,000,000 worth of cotton, and paid out for foreign utensils and supplies no less than $1,500,000. They could grow every kind of fruit and vegetable in abundance, but they appear to like canned peaches and beans better than they do those which they could raise themselves. In the county of Muscogee, in which Columbus is situated, there are three thousand and seven hundred dogs and only forty-five sheep. Every negro has a single-barreled shot-gun or an old army musket, and a mangy cur. The white gentlemen have double-barreled guns and English-bred pointers. With these they waste much valuable time in hunting quail and wild ducks. The blacks not being skillful enough to shoot on the wing, kill the insect-destroying birds and leave the worms to destroy the cotton crop. The broad prairie fields of Georgia are known to be admirably adapted for stock raising; but they are left barren and waste. The people get their butter from the West, and I have actually seen condensed milk on the table of a farmer. He was the proud possessor of three pointers and a pack of trained hounds, but had not one cow on his place.—[Special Southern Correspondent of the New York Times.

TURNIPS SOWN WITH GRASS.—A correspondent writes: "I have made it a practice now for some years of sowing flat turnips with my grass seed, when I seed down in the Fall, and with the best of results. I have now about two acres which were seeded in August, and, notwithstanding the severe dry weather, I have a good catch of grass, and the turnips are doing well. The broad leaves of the turnips protect the young grass from the scorching rays of the sun, without which protection the grass would have before this been entirely dried up; as it is, I shall save my grass and raise a few hundred bushels of turnips, and if as fortunate as I have generally been, next Summer I shall cut about four tons of hay. On part of these two acres I had a crop of early potatoes, on the other a crop of oats, before I seeded down. Last Fall I raised about a thousand bushels of turnips in the same manner. The turnip has a long root which penetrates the soil to a great depth, and what nutriment is taken from the soil is obtained at a depth to which the grass roots rarely penetrate, and through its broad leaves it obtains a large amount of sustenance from the atmosphere. Hence, like clover, its tendency is to enrich rather than impoverish the soil."

SHEEPSKIN MATS.—To make sheepskin mats wash, while fresh, in strong soapsuds, first picking from the wool all the dirt that will come out. A little kerosene, a tablespoonful to three gallons of water, will aid in removing the impurities. Continue to wash the skin in fresh suds till it is white and clean. Then dissolve a half pound each of salt and alum in three pints of boiling water, put it into water enough to cover the skin, which should soak into the solution twelve hours, and then be hung on a line to drain. When nearly dry, nail it wool-side in on a board, or the side of a barn, to dry. Rub into the skin an ounce each of pulverized alum and saltpeter, and if the skin is large double the quantity. Rub for an hour or two. Fold the skin sides together, and hang the mat away for three days, rubbing it every day, or till perfectly dry. Then with a blunt knife clear the skin of impurities, rub it with pumice or rotten stone, trim it into shape, and you have a door mat that will last a lifetime.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

DYSPEPSIA.

☞Dyspepsia is the most discouraging and distressing disease man is heir to. Americans are particularly subject to this disease and its effects: such as sour stomach, sick headache, habitual costiveness, heartburn, water-brash, gnawing and burning pains in the pit of the stomach, coming up of the food, coated tongue, dissagreeable taste in the mouth, impure blood and all diseases of the Stomach and Liver. Two doses of Green's August Flower will relieve you at once, and there positively is not a case in the United States it will not cure. If you doubt this go to your Druggist Jas. H. Taylor and get a sample bottle for 10 cents and try it. Regular size 75 cents.

☞Please call at the ninety nine cent store, second door south of post office, in Cottrell's block, and see what bargains they are giving in useful and ornamental articles. Large heavy glass ten set 99 cts.; pair vases, 99 cts.; elegant toilet set 99 cts.; large paper rack with catchall 99 cts. Glass ware of all kinds. Brackets of various descriptions. Just received a large and well selected stock of chromos in frames, which are selling rapidly for 99 cts. each. Goods cheerfully shown whether you buy or not.

DR. BICKNELL'S SYRUP
Cures Bowel or Summer Complaints.
Being composed largely of Brandy, Spices and simple astringents, without a particle of Opiate, has proved after a 25 years' trial superior to any other article for Dysentery, Diarrhea, Cholera-Morbus, Cholera-Infantum, Colic, Cramp, Sick or Sour Stomach, Sea-Sickness, Dyspepsia, &c., and may be implicitly relied upon in the most severe cases, yet so simple and pleasant that it may be given the most delicate infant. It acts upon the system like water on a wilted plant.

Hunt's Remedy is not a new compound, it has been before the public for more than twenty years, and extensively used by all classes, both with and without the advice of a physician, and it has been the means of saving from a lingering and frightful disease and untimely death hundreds of our most estimable and well known citizens. This medicine never fails to cure dropsy and all diseases of the kidneys, bladder and urinary organs. nov14-1w-n&j

☞The undoubted utility of Milk of Magnesia, both as a preventive and a cure, of the summer complaints of children should prompt the boards of health of all large cities to order its distribution gratuitously among the poorer residents of densely populated districts. oct28-1m

Protect Your Buildings.
Fire and water proof!—One coat of Glines' Slate Roofing Paint is equal to six of any other: it contains no tar will fill up all holes in shingle, tin, felt or iron roofs. Never cracks nor scales off, stops all leaks and is only 80 cents a gallon ready for use, with a liberal discount to the trade. Send for testimonials. N. Y. Slate Roofing Co. No. 6 Cedar st. N. Y. feb28-n&j

If Alcoholic Stimulants are taken into the blood the heart works faster, and thus unnatural speed wears out the vital machinery. All intoxicating nostrums advertised as "tonics," "renovators," &c., produce this disastrous effect, and should be rejected. DR. WALKER'S VEGETABLE VINEGAR BITTERS—an invigorant without the curse of alcohol—is everywhere supplanting these poisons. nov16-4w

☞One of the most serious objections to the use of Magnesia, both carbonate and calcined, which is in common use, is that it adheres to the coat of the stomach and intestines, and occasions obstructions, which are annoying, and often productive of disease. Such an incident never occurs in the use of Milk of Magnesia. oct28-1m

Is Stimulation Necessary?

This question is practically answered in the affirmative by thousands of physicians every day. Sometimes they prescribe the ordinary forms of alcohol; sometimes tinctures which are simply inferior alcohol, more or less medicated; but no small proportion of the faculty give the preference to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, as the most carefully prepared medicinal stimulant at present known. It is impossible for prejudice itself to be blind to the marked success with which this extraordinary tonic and alterative has been administered in cases of dyspepsia during the last twenty years. If it were possible to canvass the whole country for cases in which it had effected a cure of this obstinate and agonizing disease, they would number millions. No wonder, then, that it has become a standard medicine in every State, city, town and village in the United States, and that names, the most distinguished in literature, art and science, are the vouchers for its remarkable properties. The immense manufactory at Pittsburg, with its extensive storehouses, is the largest establishment of the kind in this country, and probably in the world. The amount of manual labor employed in the preparation of the Bitters, to say nothing of the steam driven machinery, is greater than that of any other proprietary medicine establishment on this continent, and, by the blessing of Providence, the beneficial results of this unequalled tonic and alterative are co-extensive with the continually increasing sales. It is the household tonic of the American people, and in all human probability will be so for centuries to come.

☞Milk of Magnesia is the best and safest remedy yet discovered for all diseases with which children are afflicted. It corrects sourness or acidity of the stomach, gives the child a quiet, natural sleep, and invigorates the stomach and bowels. This valuable preparation is prescribed by the leading physicians. Newport Daily News.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1874.

GENERAL NEWS.

FROM NEW YORK.

Catholic Conference in Rome.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.

A London dispatch states that Archbishop Manning has gone to Rome and quite a number of other bishops will follow. They undoubtedly will hold a conference there relative to the Catholic congress in London.

Germany and the Papal Succession.

A Berlin dispatch says Bismarck has intimated to the Vatican, that unless a strict adherence to the usual forms is followed in the next election of a pope, Germany will withhold its recognition.

A Hoax.

A Paris dispatch says the Montevideo dispatch announcing the recognition of President Avellaneda was a hoax.

The Longshoremen's Strike.

The longshoremen's strike is still in operation with no signs of abatement. Large forces of new hands are at work where the men went out on strike. The police arrangements around the piers are effective, and up to noon no disturbances had occurred. The European steamers are rapidly having their cargoes discharged and reshipping, and the employing stevedores express confidence that none of the steamships will be forced to sail without a full cargo.

The Kelley-Havemeyer Libel-Suit.

On the application of ex-Judge Waterbury who is joint defendant with Mayor Havemeyer in the libel suits by John Kelley, Judge Donohue today granted a further extension of ten days to answer.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Collision on the Eastern Railroad.

BOSTON, Nov. 18.

This morning six cars of a freight train at Salisbury, on the Eastern Railroad, broke away and ran back, colliding with another approaching train. Eight cars of merchandise were thrown off and entirely consumed by fire, and one of the best engines on the road completely destroyed. The engineer had his arm fractured, and several narrowly escaped. Passengers for Boston were brought to Newburyport in carriages.

Murder in Arkansas.

MEMPHIS, Nov. 18.

Last Saturday at Bearfield, Grant county, Arkansas, Tom Wagner and another planter named Coble had a difficulty about some steel traps, and on Sunday they met again near Wagner's house, Coble being accompanied by his two sons. The difficulty was here renewed and terminated in Coble's shooting Wagner through the left breast. After Wagner had fallen, one of Coble's sons attempted to shoot him, but the pistol snapped. Wagner was found by some neighbors and carried home. No hopes are entertained of his recovery.

The Election in Kansas.

ATCHINSON, Ks., Nov. 18.

The Champion has full returns of the vote of the state. The total vote cast was 86,000, nearly 15,000 less than two years ago. Osborn, Republican for governor, has 13,447 majority. The average majority for the rest of the state ticket is about 19,000. The opposition vote is about 17,000, and the Republican vote about 14,000 less than two years ago. The legislature is two thirds Republican.

The Illinois Coal Miners Strike.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 18.

The strike by the coal miners of St. Clair Co., Illinois, which has in progress for some days past was virtually ended today by the adoption of a resolution at a mass meeting near French village, allowing all union men who can get four cents per bushel for digging to commence work tomorrow. The object of the strike, which was to compel all coöperative men and black-legs or non-union men to join the miners' union and thereby establish a uniform price for digging, was not effected and matters stand about where they did when the strike was inaugurated.

The Express Robbery in Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 18.

The robbers of the American express office, in this city, have finally confessed where they secreted the plunder, and late last night it was found concealed in the woods some distance north of the city. It is believed nearly if not quite all the stolen money is recovered, though it is not yet counted.

Steamer Empire Disaster.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 18.

The following are the names as far as known of the missing, and believed to be lost by the sinking of steamer Empire, not including those already mentioned: Henry Jackson, Robert Carpenter, Wm. Green, engineers; Mr. Maddox, of Belair plantation, Antoine Bare, Mr. and Mrs. Kemper and two children: Mrs. James Martin, of Point La Hoche: Mr. Mazelle, of Union plantation: Rose St. John, stewardess; Charles Williams, pantry keeper and Charles Ward and John Williams, cook boys.

The Conservative on the Returning Board.

Mr. Arrago, who was seated yesterday as a member of the returning board now says the responsibility is too great for only one Conservative member, and if another is not appointed within twenty four hours he will resign.

Arrest of a Supervisor of Registration.

J. Bean, Supervisor of Registration for Desoto parish was brought before the United States Commissioner Craig today on the affidavit charging him with having on the 17th inst., at No. 14 Dryades street, concealed and destroyed certain statements and certificates of election, and substituted certain false, forged and fraudulent statements and certificates. The accused waived an examination, and gave bail to appear before the circuit court.

The Yale Expedition.

FORT LARAMIE, W. T., Nov. 18.

Advices from Red Cloud Agency of the 12th and 13th instant, confirm the reports that Professor Marsh, of Yale College, was detained there because the Indians objected to his visiting the newly discovered fossil regions near the Black Hills. Later information is that at a council held on the 14th, the Indians gave a reluctant consent, and some of them had been engaged by Professor Marsh as guides. Among them Young-Man-Afraid-of-His-Horses, who said he must go now and they with him to show the other Indians they were not afraid. It is presumed that after a certain amount of opposition and speeches, the Indians will give their consent. Further news is looked for on the arrival of General Bradley, now at the agency.

Gas Works Explosion.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 18.

By an explosion at the gas works at Mount Sterling, Ky., this morning two white men and one negro were instantly killed. Two buildings connected with the works were destroyed. Loss not stated.

Municipal Movement in New Bedford.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Nov. 18.

A large meeting of citizens opposed to the present temperance administration, this evening nominated Abraham H. Howland for mayor.

Further from Arkansas.

LITTLE ROCK, Nov. 18.

Henry M. Cooper, Secretary of the Republican State Central Committee, authorizes a denial of the telegram from Washington, Monday night, that he telegraphed Senator Dorsey or anybody else, that hundreds of Republicans were being arrested, or that Smith's adherents were assembling here or at any other point.

The senate passed a bill authorizing the governor to offer a reward of $1000 for criminals. As soon as it becomes a law, the governor will offer a reward for the apprehension of Smith and Wheeler.

The Striking Weavers at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 28.

The Brussels, ingrain and tapestry weavers at Dobson's mills have signified their willingness to resume work, but the blanket weavers and persons employed in the spinning and finishing departments, and laborers, are dissatisfied and refuse to resume work unless equal concessions are made to them. A strong police force is about the mills to prevent violence. Indications are that a freak rupture will extend to the Brussels, ingrain, tapestry and cloth departments, and result in the complete suspension of operations.

The Reformed Church.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18.

The joint committees of the Reformed church conference reassembled this afternoon. Rev. Franklin B. Leaven, from the committee of the Reformed church of the United States, offered the following general plan of union:—

First, organic union; second, the Heidelberg catechism to be the common standard; third, the Belgic confession and the articles of the diet to be considered of great importance and authority, next to the Heidelburg catechism; fourth, a general synod with powers limited and defined.

No action was taken by the conference further than the appointment of a sub-committee of three from each committee to consider and report on the subject.

London Roman Catholics Resolve that Civil Loyalty is not Affected by Papal Infallibility.

LONDON, Nov. 18.

A meeting of Roman Catholics was held at Willis's rooms, this evening, to consider the question raised in the controversy between Gladstone and Archbishop Manning. Speeches were made denouncing the imputations and assumption of the recent pamphlet on the Vatican decrees, and a resolution was unanimously adopted declaring that the civil loyalty of the Roman Catholics is in no wise affected by the decree of Papal infallibility.

The Persecuted Christians in Syria.

Lord Derby today, replying to a deputation, announced that the government would address a friendly remonstrance to the Porte in favor of the persecuted Christians in Syria.

Look at This.

The last ten years have been very disastrous to insurance companies in the United States. More than sixty have failed altogether, and many others have reduced their capital stock or otherwise became greatly weakened. But there are a few that by prudent management and wise liberality on the part of stock holders are much stronger now than ever. Consider the following figures taken from the reports of the Insurance commissioner, of the state of New York, for 1864 and 1874.

ÆTNA of Hartford, Assets in 1864.		$3,800,432, 93
" " "	1874.	5,845,802. 03
Increase of assets in ten years,		2,045,369. 10
INSURANCE of North America, 1864.		$1,715,171. 78
" " "	1874.	3,263,000. 60
Increase of assets in ten years,		1,547,828. 22
ROYAL of Liverpool, (American Funds) Assets in 1864.		$1,827,994. 01
" " in 1874.		3,073,433. 85
Increase in ten years,		1,245,439. 78
HARTFORD, of Hartford, Assets, 1864.		$1,675,920. 48
" " "	1874.	2,415,681. 51
Increase in ten years,		839,761. 03

This wonderful growth during a term of unparalleled disaster is not the result of good fortune merely, for these companies have been the heaviest losers in Portland, Chicago, Boston and other cities, and have paid out millions of dollars each year. The facts commend themselves to persons who want RELIABLE insurance in these days of trial. A policy in such companies is worth twice as much as one in any of the untried institutions that are springing up on every hand. The rule is the same.

Dwelling houses and their contents insured for five years at very low prices—lower in fact than is charged by many of the Mutuals where the insured is liable to heavy assessments in case of a large fire in any of our larger towns.

Policies written on all classes of property, and losses paid at this agency.

her foot and clapped her hands with delight to see how strongly it was mended.

"I will repay—I will repay! Will you trust me?" she cried, fixing her eyes upon Silvio.

"That I will," he said, earnestly.

"It is nothing to him," said Prisco, quickly. "He is only our apprentice. Without our permission he could not have put a stitch in it."

"I thank every one," said the girl; "but him the most. Ah! now I can walk farther and look for work."

"Are you looking for work?" cried Prisco. "What can you do? Can you mend my boots?"

"No; but I can scrub a floor, cook a dinner, dance, sing, and tell the truth."

"She is a lively creature," whispered Prisco to his uncle Grifone. "Why not hire her at once to supply our need?"

"Well thought on!" said Grifone. "So friendless and poor, she would work for next to nothing."

"And we can send her away without notice, if she offends," growled Trifonius.

"It were a charitable act," said Ubaldo; "but here comes La Mugnaia, returning from her search."

A tall, meagre-looking woman came up the street and joined the group. La Mugnaia was gaunt and sallow, with a square, wrinkled face, white teeth, and large brown eyes; her head completely bound up in a yellow handkerchief. She looked stern and wary, like an old soldier; but when she smiled, her fine brown eyes softened, and a surprising sunshine warmed up the weather-beaten countenance.

"Well, Orsola!" said Trifonius, "have you succeeded in finding us a maid to take care of our house?"

"No, indeed," said Orsola.

"There is a young girl here who is seeking for work," said Ubaldo. "Question her."

"What can you do?" asked the woman of the girl.

"Put me in a house and try me."

"What payment do you expect?"

"Food and shelter, anything you like. I have to work up the price of mending my shoe."

"I will take her with me to Verona," said La Mugnaia, "and there I will prove her. If you see her coming back you may hire her."

"It is a great deal of trouble for nothing," grumbled Prisco.

"La Mugnaia is a sensible woman," said Ubaldo. "Let her manage our affairs."

"If the signora will allow me to add some strong sandals to her shoes," said Silvio, "she will be better able for the journey."

The two women departed for Verona, and the cobblers went on with their work. During the week that followed many a glance was cast up the street by which the stranger maiden was expected to return, till, at last, one day, Silvio startled the rest by crying out,—

"Here is La Scarpetta coming over the hill!"

"Bravo!" said Ubaldo. "It is a good name—the 'Little Shoe.'"

"I foresee she will torment us," said Grifone.

"Rob us, perhaps," said Trifonius.

"Or make us very happy," said Silvio, whose gaze was fastened gladly on the merry eyes and twinkling feet of the girl who was tripping down the hill.

"You are a pair of old grumblers," said Prisco to his father and uncle. "As for you," turning to Silvio, "remember, you are only the apprentice."

"Nay, Prisco; you surely do not want to fight again," said Silvio, good-humoredly. And Prisco frowned, but pretended not to hear.

"Now, tell us where you have been since," said Trifonius, "that we may know if you have been really with Orsola."

"I have been living in her little mill out in the Adige," said the girl. "The water rushed under our feet and all round us. The streets were above us, and people gazed down at us from dark arches over the water. We reached our mill by a plank, swinging on ropes, across the river. At night we carried a lantern, that we might not walk into the flood. La Mugnaia was hard as flint on the first few days, and sweet as honey at the last. She sent you a cake I have baked, a shirt I have washed, and a stocking I have mended."

The cake was tasted and eaten to the crumbs, the shirt was white as snow, the stocking was sound and no lumps on the sole.

"Go into the house," said Ubaldo; and La Scarpetta became housekeeper to the cobblers. The next evening Prisco and Silvio each presented her with a pair of sturdy shoes of his own making. Prisco's were large and clumsy, and fell off her feet; but Silvio's fitted her to a nicety. Strongly and safely shod, she danced about the floor in delight, while Silvio whistled a tune for her, and Prisco gnawed his lips in the corner.

"I am deeply in debt," said the little dancer, looking at her shoes, and then at Garzone.

"Give me the old ones, and I am paid," said Silvio.

"I also have a right to them," said Prisco; "for my shoes would fit if she would only go soberly."

"You shall each have one," said the maiden.

"I will have both," said Prisco.

"She shall do as she pleases," said Silvio.

"Shall?" cried Prisco, insolently. "You, who came to us a pauper—you think to give law in the house!"

"Give up the shoes," said Silvio, determinedly.

"Come, come!" cried Ubaldo. "They belong to the house, and we will use them as a sign of our trade."

And the little shoes were hung up in the window, with their broken soles hid from view and their embroidered toes turned out to the light.

After this the house of the Five Cobblers proved to be the merriest house in Brescia. La Scarpetta was found quick, active, and with a genius for making people comfortable. She was more child than woman in her frolicsome ways; yet, had wit and shrewdness enough to carry on her business, and give point and liveliness to her speech. She had also a certain dignity and independence of manner, which won her the respect of her many masters. She made her markets before they were up in the morning, served their food delicately, kept the place garnished with flowers, and often sat at the door, in the cool of the evening, chatting to them while she mended the household linen, or helped with the finer parts of the cobbling.

"Our sister-in-law has suited us well," said Ubaldo. "This woman was really born for the comfort of man."

"Most of them being torments," said Trifonius.

"She will torment us yet!" growled Grifone.

The ancient Ubaldo was held in much esteem among his friends in Brescia; also his sons Trifonius and Grifone. They had all followed the cobbling profession from their youth, had laid up some money, and walked in honest ways. Prisco, who was their pride, was to be endowed with their savings, being crowned with the halo of their good name. The future welfare of Prisco was the constant theme of their thoughts. Anything was good or bad, according as it affected the glory of Prisco.

"This servant-maid has bewitched our son," whispered Grifone into the ear of Trifonius, one holiday, as they set off for a walk round the town. Prisco was always known as "our son" among the elders.

"Nonsense!" cried Trifonius. "It is Silvio who is in love with her."

"You take this too easily," said Grifone. "Prisco, I tell you, is also infatuated. And do you think she will prefer Silvio, the penniless, to our son, who will inherit our property and fine position in the town?"

"This is too absurd," said Trifonius. "A foreigner, who dropped from nowhere upon us; a beggar, who cannot even tell who were her parents. What do you propose to do?"

THE HARTFORD

ACCIDENT

Insurance Company.

Cash Capital, $500,000.

R. D. HUBBARD Pres. GEO. B. LESTER, Sec.

Insures against all forms of bodily injury induced by accidental means: such as dislocations, fractures, broken bones, ruptured tendons, bruises, cuts, stabs, gunshot wounds, crushing or mangling, burns and scalds, bites of mad dogs or serpents, unprovoked assaults by robbers or murderers, stroke of lightning or drowning &c.

The records of the years are filled with such accidents, and no doubt will be, so long as human carelessness exists. We are beset with them, from the cradle to the grave, and there is scarcely an individual who cannot refer, within the sphere of his own family or acquaintance, to some accident in which the indemnity offered by this company would have been a blessing worth much more than its cost.

Policies issued for long or short terms providing for weekly payments, in case of disability, and for the payment of the whole sum, in case of death.

The only company in the country that devotes itself wholly to accident insurance. A yearly policy covers accidents while travelling, while about one's business, while in the street, at home or abroad. The premium on each $1,000 is so small that every man is able to secure a policy without the slightest embarrassment. For full and complete particulars inquire of L. D. DAVIS, agent for Newport and vicinity.

AMERICAN AND FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,
No. 70 State St., opp. Kilby St., Boston.

AFTER AN EXTENSIVE PRACTICE of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms, with despatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakeable proof of great talent and ability on his part, leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."

REASONS WHY

THE

REMINGTON

Family Sewing Machines

ARE

Superior to all Others:

1st—Their SIMPLICITY.—The use of them is very easily acquired, and any girl of ordinary intelligence is capable of keeping them in order.

2d—The CONSTRUCTION of the Machine is such that it may be run at a higher rate of speed than any shuttle machine now in the market. In factories, where the speed has been registered, over 1,000 stitches per minute have been attained with ease.

3d—Their DURABILITY.—Being so strong in all their parts, and fitted with great mechanical nicety, and being free from the harsh, jarring movements and friction, so common in inferior machines, they will wear a long time without repair of any kind.

4th—Their ADAPTABILITY.—By a simple change of the needle and thread, they will sew the finest cambric or the heaviest leather. All the various kinds of boots and shoes, backskin sewing, clothing, caps, stays, shirts, nanttees and dressmaking can be done with equal facility.

5th—The SHUTTLE.—Being large, it will carry a great quantity of thread—thus saving in a great measure, the trouble of filling the bobbins.

6th—The means of getting at the required TENSION on the Threads is so simple and complete, that an even backstitch on horn sizes of the material (which will not rip or ravel) can be readily obtained.

7th—They will sew with equal facility Silk, Twist, Linen Thread and common Spool Cotton.

8th—They have no rotary cams, rag-wheels or lever arms to make a noise, run hard or to get out of order.

By the new and peculiar movement of needle and shuttle and thread-controlling parts there is less wear or strain on the thread used. The thread being set in the material unbjured, the work is therefore better and stronger than that done on many other machine.

HAVE YOU TRIED

JURUBEBA?

ARE YOU

Weak, Nervous, or Debilitated?

Are you so Languid that any exertion requires more of an effort than you feel capable of making?

Then try JURUBEBA, the wonderful CONCENTRATED INVIGORATOR, which acts so beneficially on the secretive organs as to impart vigor to all the vital forces.

It is not a harsh appetizer, which stimulates for a short time, only to let the sufferer fall to a lower depth of infirmity, but it is a vegetable tonic acting directly on the internal system.

It regulates the Bowels, quiets the nerves, and gives such a healthy tone to the whole system as to soon make the invalid feel like a new person.

Its operation is not violent, but is characterized by great gentleness, the patient experiences no sudden change, no marked results, but gradually his troubles

"Fold their tents, like the Arabs,
And silently steal away."

This is no new and untried discovery, but has been long used with wonderful remedial results, and is pronounced by the highest medical authorities, the most powerful tonic and alterative known.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing the merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.
